

Description:

This conference will serve a double purpose: on the one hand participants will present research on the general theme of the relationship between Catholicism and fascism in Europe in the period 1918-45; on the other hand the discussion will be taken to a theoretical level. Participants will cover a number of geographical contexts which is unprecedented in a conference of this size. The final aim is to further develop an interpretive 'cluster' model that will incorporate a series of investigative matrixes, thus inspiring future research.

Organised by:

Scientific committee:

- Roger Griffin (Oxford Brookes)
- Patrick Loobuyck (Antwerp)
- Anne Morelli (ULB-CIERL)
- Jan Nelis (Ghent-CSCT)
